PRESS RELEASE SARAS S.p.A.

Saras' contribution to contain the cost of fuels in Sardinia

Milan, 04th November 2026

In consideration that energy scenarios remain volatile and uncertain, Saras announces the decision to extend until the 30th of November, its subsidy on the cost of fuels delivered in Sardinia, to continue to support operators in the heavy road transport, the agricultural and the fishing sectors, as well as the independent service stations.

The initiative, launched on the 10th of October, has been very effective so far. The actions taken allowed Saras' commercial partners to concretely transfer important reductions in fuel prices to consumers and businesses in Sardinia.

Saras is part of Vitol, a global leader in the distribution and trading of energy commodities, and its main activities involve oil refining, the marketing of refined oil products, marine bunkering, and the production and sale of electricity, including from renewable sources.
The Sarlux Srl refinery in Sarroch (Cagliari), is one of the largest in the Mediterranean Basin and among the most advanced in terms of plant complexity. Thanks to the skills and technological know-how gained in over 60 years of activity, the refinery is a point of reference among peers, in terms of efficiency and environmental sustainability. Sarlux is also active in the production and sale of electricity through the IGCC – a Combined Cycle Gasification Plant integrated with the refinery, which plays an essential role in the stability and security of Sardinia's electricity system. Finally, the subsidiary Sardeolica Srl produces and sells electricity from renewable wind sources, with a total installed capacity of 171 MW; its electricity production can satisfy the annual energy needs of approx. 200 thousand people. Saras commitment and professionalism create sustainable value for all the company's stakeholders.
