Saras' contribution to contain the cost of fuels in Sardinia

Milan, 10th October 2026

In the current context of volatility and uncertainty in the international energy markets, Saras announces its solidarity intervention in favour of Sardinian citizens and businesses, in order to limit the impact of the high cost of petroleum products.

The intervention concerns the cost of fuels delivered in Sardinia from the Sarroch refinery and intended for road transport, agriculture and fishing boats. It will allow independent service stations to offer to the public the best conditions applied by the main market operators; moreover, it will also allow our historical partners to discount fuels intended for heavy road transport, agricultural and fishing operators.

The discount will be applied with immediate effect and will remain in force until October 31st.

With this intervention, Saras confirms its concrete commitment to supporting consumers and those sectors considered strategic for the island's mobility, the proper functioning of logistics chains, food safety and the quality of productions that represent the excellence of Sardinia both nationally and internationally.

Saras is part of Vitol, a global leader in the distribution and trading of energy commodities, and its main activities involve oil refining, the marketing of refined oil products, marine bunkering, and the production and sale of electricity, including from renewable sources.

The Sarlux Srl refinery in Sarroch (Cagliari), is one of the largest in the Mediterranean Basin and among the most advanced in terms of plant complexity. Thanks to the skills and technological know-how gained in over 60 years of activity, the refinery is a point of reference among peers, in terms of efficiency and environmental sustainability. Sarlux is also active in the production and sale of electricity through the IGCC – a Combined Cycle Gasification Plant integrated with the refinery, which plays an essential role in the stability and security of Sardinia's electricity system. Finally, the subsidiary Sardeolica Srl produces and sells electricity from renewable wind sources, with a total installed capacity of 171 MW; its electricity production can satisfy the annual energy needs of approx. 200 thousand people. Saras commitment and professionalism create sustainable value for all the company's stakeholders.
